SUNDAY IMPORTANT DAY IN CHARLEROI CHURCHES

Palm Sunday Observance to be Made a Feature

CENTENARY SERVICES

Life and Work of David Livingstone to be Remembered in Sermons

Services appropriate to the observance of Palm Sunday will predominate in many of the Charleroi churches Sunday. The observance will be coincidental with the observance in other churches of the David Livingstone centenary. Palm Sunday, on which is celebrated Christ's entry into Jerusalem, is of ancient origin, as it occurs in the "Life of Enthymius," who died in 472. According to the present rite of the Catholic church, palm or olive branches are blessed b ythe priests before mass and distributed. After the distribution the Passion of Christ, as related by Matthew in his gospel, is solemnly chanted.

At St. Jerome's Catholic church the distribution of the palm will occur after high mass at 10:30 o'lcock. Earlier masses will be held at 7:30 and 9 o'clock. Evening devotions wil lbe held at 7:30. Rev. W. D. Eries, pastor and Rev. B. N. Axmacher, assistant pastor, have been unable to prepare any program very much out of the ordinary because of the condition of the new church.

At St. Mary's Episcopal church Palm Sunday will be observed by a special sermon by Rev. L. W. Shey, rector, on "Christ's Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem."

In many of the Protestant churches Sunday morning will be given up to the observance of the David Livingstone centenary. All the pastors of these churches are to preach sermons relating to the life and work of the noted explorer and missionary to Africa. Short addresses will be made and there will be recitations and special music to suit the occasion at the First Christian church.

At the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, Rev. John R. Burson, the pastor will speak of "The Life and Achievements of David Livingstone." Rev. E. G. Stanley at the First Baptist church will speak of "Our Inheritance in the Life and Work of David Livingstone."

Rev. F. A. Richards at the Methodist Episcopal church is to speak in the morning on "The Pathfinder of the Dark Continent." Rev. J. T. Hacket is planning a special Livingstone sermon at the First Presbyterian church. Special music will be a feature at the Livingstone services.

Will Buy a Site at Monessen

Government Advertises it is in the Market for Public Building Location

Monessen is one of the first towns in the Monongahela valley to receive any official notice with the signature of the new Secretary of the treasury, W. G. McAdoo, attached. The signature of Secretary McAdoo was attached to an advertisement for a site for a public building in Monessen. The location must be central, the site no less than 20,000 square feet in area, and if the lot offered is rectangular, its minimum dimension must be not less than 125 feet. April 4 is the late day for the receiving of bids.

MILK HE BOUGHT WATERED

Floyd Bonnell Explains Exactly Why He Plead No Defense

HAS OWN TESTER NOW

To the public:—There are two sides to all questions. As to the sample of milk taken from my wagon by Mr. Jenkins and the analysis showing water for which I was fined $25 and paid without defence because I had neither time or money to spare, and as it would be unwise when the analysis showed water in the sample, I would say that during winter I am compelled to buy a large amount of milk as do most dairyman, and during the summer months I aim to produce all my own milk as near as possible. For some time I have been buying 28 to 30 gallons per day, and when Mr. Jenkins informed me that my milk did not pass, I told him that I would take oath that I had never adulterated my milk in any way, and I say here that I never adulterated my milk in any way shape or form, and further I can prove by the young man that has been employed steadily by me over a year whose work is to care for the milk, who carries it from the stable to the spring house and he knows how much there is and loads the wagon in the morning and knows how much is loaded.

I have retailed milk to the citizens of Charleroi for six and one half years and my milk has always proven to give the best of satisfaction and has passed inspection six times and

SCHOOLS OBSERVE FIRST DISPLAY DAY

Work Done During Term Exhibited Friday Afternoon and Evening--Many Make Visits to Various Rooms

Anybody obsessed with the idea that the schools are accomplishing nothing and that the school children are profiting not at all would have had its quota of visitors. The work they visited the schools on the first exhibition day of the year Friday. Displays of the regular routine work by the pupils were hung about the rooms in tasteful array. Exclamations of wonder that so much had been accomplished were heard.

The schools were open for exhibition purposes both afternoon and in the evening. Every school building had its quoto of visitors. The work displayed if viewed after a systematic method showed the progress of pupils from room to room. In the first grade were the products of the tiny hands in writing and drawing exercises. Also in the same grade was to be seen paper figures and colored flags that had been manufactured much after a kindergarten plan.

In the second grades were exhibitions of work showing more advanced pupils than in the first grade. Materially these displays were systematically arranged. Every room had taken on a festive air, and that simply from the very business-like flag in the first grade of the Fifth street school building, which constituted the work of the pupils and teacher, Miss Elizabeth Elliott, drew much attention both during the afternoon and evening.

As every visitor entered a school their name was taken. Several hundred visits were recorded. Ushers who were chosen from among pupils of the lower grades showed every courtesy in pointing out the interesting places. There was no school held during the afternoon.

CHARLEROI LODGE OF EAGLES ARRANGES FOR ANNUAL MEMORIAL

Will Pay Fitting Tribute to Their Honored Dead Sunday---C. W. L. McDermott of Maryland Will Make Address

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Charleroi Lodge No. 390, Fraternal Order of Eagles will hold their annual memorial services in commemoration of the lives of the five members who died during last year. The services will be held at Palace Theatre. C. W. L. McDermott, of Cumberland, Md., a speaker of more than local reputation, will make the address, W. R. Gaut, past worthy president of the Charleroi lodge, will deliver the eulogy.

Music is to be afeature of the memorial services. As soloist Thomas Thomas, one of the best known and of the finest baritone singers in Pittsburg will be here. Under the direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel, the Charleroi Elks Glee club will sing two numbers, the first "Blessed are the Departed," by Blummer and "Nearer My God to Thee," by Johnston. The Palace Orchestra will render three numbers.

The five members who died during the year are: Robert Ellison, Theodore Ebberts, David Provance, Henry Bentz and John Watkinson.

FIRST DAY OF OPENING

Kirk and Clark Arrange for Fourteenth Annual Event

An event that is always eagerly anticipated in household circles in this community is the anniversary sale of the Economic store of Kirk and Clark, on McKean avenue, which opened today and will continue this evening, and on Monday and Monday night. This is the fourteenth annual anniversary sale, and it marks an important milestone in the progress of this enterprising firm.

From the very start the name of Kirk and Clark has been synonomous with fair dealing and good values. Starting on a modest scale the firm has prospered, and today owns one of the handsomest and best appointed department store buildings in the whole valley, which the firm erected some years ago. By liberal and systematic advertising the firm has become a household word all along the valley, and no one thinks of Charleroi in a trade way who does not instantly associate the name of Kirk and Clark with their wants.

For this anniversary sale special bargains are offered in all the departments of the big store. There are some specially attractive bargains in dry goods, in ladies' underwear, house dresses, and other apparel, curtains, household furnishings and dozens of other articles which must be seen to be appreciated. There are attractive displays of new and seasonable dress fabrics, and other new and pretty things, which are a delight to the feminine heart. The store is specially dressed up for the sale, and is attracting the usual large crowds.

BEAM IS HARD TO HANDLE

Big Steel Structure for School Difficult to Get Up Hill

WEIGHS SEVERAL TONS

Just as much of an engineering feat in its way way as that of boring the Hudson tunnel or floating the Geneva railroad bridge into its position over the Monongahela river, was that executed Friday and today of getting a large steel beam to be used in the construction of the new school building on Crest avenue and Sixth street to its location. It was necessary to haul the beam, weighing something like four tons up macadamized Sixth street. The work took all of Friday and the greater part of the working hours of today. At that it is only the first of seven to be taken up the hill.

The beam came into the freight yards on a dongola car with two others, slightly smaller. Comparatively easy was the work of getting the first and biggest loaded onto a truck made from a broad wheeled wagon. Also it was easy removing the heavy steel structure to Sixth street and then up to Washington avenue. Three teams were necessary to place the beam at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Sixth street. Aid was also required from the 15-horse power motor used in puling heavy loads up Sixth street to the school building.

At Lincoln avenue the wagon wheels, though of bread tread sank

Monessen People Determined to Find Facts of Conditions

GRAFT MONEY PAID?

Mother Dudgeon and Others So Assert---District Attorney to Investigate

The story going the rounds of the newspapers that prominent men of Monessen are trying to block the investigations about to start into the alleged vice conditions of Wireton, because their sons were visitors at the home of Mother Dudgeon where the shooting of Policeman Michael Entinger occurred last Saturday night, is being most vigorously denied in Monessen. Not yet, it is stated, has any prominent man or any other man with an honest desire to see bad conditions rectified said anything about blocking the investigations. The bulk of the Monessen people are too angry.

"The investigation is going to go on," said one man this morning. "Let it catch who it will, nevertheless the investigation is to be made." That means that the charges of Mother Dudgeon's that she paid for protection will be thoroughly probed.

District Attorney W. T. Dom, of Westmoreland county has been stirred to action. He intimated Friday several arrests would likely be made soon. It has been announced by the vice committee appointed to probe the statement that Monessen police had been receiving graft money that the police are not guilty. However, it is not denied that certain constables were on the payroll of Mrs. Dudgeon for the past year.

Mrs. Dudgeon has said that she will tell everything she knows. This has caused fear in certain circles, and it is stated that various persons are considering taking vacations.

"Father didn't seem to care what I did—so I guess I don't care much either," said pretty 15-year-old Emma Hough, daughter of the man charged with the murder of Etinger.

The girl told District Attorney Dom that she had seen Mrs. Dudgeon pay a Pricedale constable $5 while the two were sitting on the front porch of their home not long ago. She also stated that Mrs. Dudgeon told her that she had paid $300 to a Monessen constable inside of one year and she was arrested twice that year anyhow.

Mrs. Dudgeon and the Hough girl are being held in the Greensburg jail as material witnesses. Blanche West, another inmate has been released from jail on bail to be taken to her home near Connellsville by her father.

THE OLD AND THE NEW.

It is now generally agreed that the high school is failing to solve the social problem because the method and scope of its teaching is cramped into the Chinese shoe of tradition. New and complex conditions have arisen whereby the old methods have become obsolete, and a failure to meet the new requirements is what has brought the public to the present realization that new school methods must give way to the old. William D. Lewis, principal of one of the high schools of Philadelphia, gives an outline comparison between the old and the new that is interesting He says:

The old schools system served:

A rural population.

A few boys destined for the professions.

Boys made resourceful and industrious by farmwork.

Socially and mentally homogeneous sons of American parents.

A few thousand boys zealous for learning.

A simple social order, with few occupations and few problems.

The new school serves:

An urban population.

every occupation.

All sorts of boys destined for

City boys, who have never been responsible for a single task.

Sons of every nation under heaven as heterogeneous as an election day crowd.

A great many thousand boys mostly unambitious and purposeless.

A highly complex social order, with innumerable activities and inter dependent problems.

The problem is now how to handle the motor minded boy who refuses to sit down and study a book. Boys and girls must have some experience in the handling and use of material things, a knowledge of the scheme of production, and a sense of responsibility and accuracy. The urban child does not get this in its home life, and it is up to the schools to supply the deficiency.

A MANLY STATEMENT.

The frank and manly statement published elsewhere in this issue of Floyd Bonnell, the Charleroi dairyman who was fined recently because tests of a milk sample taken from him by a pure food agent of the state showed that it contained water added, should be satisfactory and convincing to the public and to Mr. Bonnell's patrons. While Mr. Bonnell was an offender, against the letter of the law; it was in the same manner that retailers who buy in good faith from wholesalers are caught in the dragnet of the pure food agents. Like such retailers, Mr. Bonnell states that he bought milk in good faith from outsiders to augment his own supply, which proved to be adultrated. In this manner he became an involuntary offender, as the law excuses no one, even though imposed upon by others.

As Mr. Bonnell has taken precautions to prevent a repetition of the offense, the occurrence should in no wise discredit him in the eyes of the public. He manfully accepted the situation, paid his fine, and has taken every precaution to protect himself from being imposed upon again by outside dealers. The honest dealer who is anxious to correct errors or omissions will always merit the public esteem. It is the deliberate and persistent violations that should be condemned.

THE HOME SPIRIT.

In the real estate transfers, which are published in this paper from time to time as they appear on the books of the recorder at Washington, it is seen that a large number of foreign born citizens are acquiring real estate in the borough of Charleroi. This property is purchased for the most part for the purpose of making homes, although business sites constitute a considerable proportion of the transfers.

This shows that our foreign born citizens are rapidly acquiring the home spirit, which is the basic element of good citizenship. From the very start, there has been a disposition on the part of the foreign born residents in Charleroi to acquire homes, until today there is an unusually large number of them who are property owners. As the foreign born element constitutes the prepondering majority of our citizens, the home spirit that is displayed by them shows how rapidly they are falling into the ways of the country of their adoption.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The Gun License Law will be of untold benefit to the farmers, and do more good than anything else of this kind that has ever been proposed in Pennsylvania," said State Zoologist H. A. Surface who is also a practical farmer and orchardist.

"This bill as amended provides that a person can hunt on his own premises without a license and also on adjoining premises with the written consent of the owner. He can post his land and keep away such persons as he does not wish to trespass there or by obtaining written consent gunners can hunt upon his premises during the open season. The gunner is required to wear upon his arm a tag containing a number which corresponds with his license number kept at the office of the State Game Commission. He must also carry his license giving his name and address. and show this to the land owner upon posted ground and refusing to show the license giving the name and address are subject to arrest immediately without a warrant. Boys under 16 years of age can be licensed only by the written consent of their parents.

The many valuable protective features of this bill justify the immediate support of every farmer in securing its passage. It provides for the protecetion of life and property in the country in a manner that has never before been provided. The responsible gunner will be given a chance, and for him game will become more abundant, but the hoodlum gunner is ruled out, and the list of horrible accidents through the unrestrained carelessness of boys will be greatly reduced.

"This is plainly a bill for respectable hunters and land owners, and may not yet become a law, unless those persons in whose interests it is drawn should awaken to a realization of its importance, and let their Senators and Representatives know that they desire its passage."

"Funny thing," said a Charleroi citizen this morning, "but one never realizes 'how use doth breed a habit,' as one William Shakespeare, was wont to remark. I've gotten used to seeing things advetrised, that it never occurs to me to ask if a dealer has an article that I don't have flashed before my eyes every time I open the paper.

"For instance, I took a notion I'd like to have some cracked wheat for a cereal, instead of the oat flake diet, after reading an article in a magazine dilating upon the virtues of wheat as a food. As I never saw any advertised here I took it for granted that no one handled it. I have a young friend who attends school in Pittsburg, going down Sundays and coming back Friday evening to spend Sunday at home. Last Sunday I went to him, and handing a dollar said:

"'I would like to have you go to Stevenson's in Pittsburg and get me a dollar's worth of cracked wheat, if you will.'

"'Sure,' he replied obligingly.

"Last evening he came to the door bringing six fifteen-cent packages of cracked wheat, put up by the Quake. Oats people.

"'Why, I believe I could have gotten that here,' I replied, and to satisfy my curiosity asked my grocer, who said that he always carried it in stock.

"'Well,' I replied, 'you'll probably sell a lot more of it if you let the people know that you carried it. As for myself, I'm stocked up for the rest of the year.'"

made a good test each time. I got report of same, as Mr. Jenkins said last week that a previous test of my milk made by him showed eight or nine per cent butter fat and the law only calls for three and one fourth. I have always given my customers a square deal and they trust in me and are satisfied that I have always treated them honestly. I have the largest retail trade in Charleroi. My customers number about three hundred. If I had not given them a fair deal how long would they stay with me? And today I am selling more milk than I did the first of the month.

If I have been buying watered milk, if my customers have innocently been imposed upon, I am only glad to know that it will continue no longer, and I am sure I shall never be caught napping or wrong again as I have already bought a tester and shall test any and all milk I buy and shall furnish in the future, as in the past, milk of strictly high quality.

Yours Respectfully,

PETERSEN FAMILY GIVES RECITAL

A fair-sized audience listened to a recital that was given Friday night at the Christian church by the Petersen Family Concert Company under the auspices and for the benefit of the Christian Endeavor connected with the church. Though composed of rather light music, the program seemed to be pleasing. Instruments used were the piano, violin, cornet, and mandolin. In the absence of the regular pianist, Miss May Barth of Charleroi acted as the accompanist. The vocal duet work of Alvina and Gladys Petersen was the best by far.

DOCTORS DID NOT HELP HER

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. LeClear's Health—Her Own Statement.

Detroit, Mich. — "I am glad to discover a remedy that relieves me from my suffering and pains. For two years I suffered bearing down pains and got all run down. I was under a nervous strain and could not sleep at night. I went to doctors here in the city but they did not do me any good.

"Seeing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised, I tried it. My health improved wonderfully and I am now quite well again. No woman suffering from female ills will regret it if she takes this medicine."—Mrs. JAMES G. LECLEAR, 336 Hunt St., Detroit, Mich.

Another Case.

Philadelphia, Pa. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is all you claim it to be. About two or three days before my periods I would get bad backaches, then pains in right and left sides, and my head would ache. I called the doctor and he said I had organic inflammation. I went to him for a while but did not get well so I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking two bottles I was relieved and finally my troubles left me. I married and have two little girls. I have had no return of the old troubles."—Mrs. CHAS. BOELL, 2650 S. Chadwick St., Phila., Pa.

AMONG THE THEATRES

THE STAR—CHARLEROI.

A rattling good two reel Kay Bee civil war drama was one of the distinguishing features of the excellent repertoire at the Star Theatre this week. This was entitled "The Little Turn Coat," and it was a story of the irrepressible conflict between love and duty, where the partisan southern girl lets her love for a dashing federal officer override her loyalty, while he in turn sacrifices a point of duty to save the life of her brother, a confederate officer. There is some desperate infantry and cavalry fighting that is most realistic, and the fact that the company is composed of the old "101 Ranch Wild West" outfit, is a guarantee of its excellence. "The Mutual Weekly," which Manager Cowan now runs every Monday, is a feature that is greatly appreciated by his patrons. This shows all the leading and worldwide events in pictorial review. The weekly this week showed scenes of the Balkin war with Turkey, in Greece, in Bulgaria and in Servia. In addition there were a number of other good dramas. Among these were "Napoleon's Luck Stone," "His Old Fashioned Mother," "When Destiny Guides." A big feature is booked for Friday, March 21. This is "As in a Looking Glass," in three reels, which features Miss Marien Leonard, who is said to receive the highest salary of any motion picture actress, $1,000 a week.

THE ALVIN—PITTSBURG.

"The Blue Bird" will be the attraction at the Alvin Theatre next week, when this spectacular attraction will be produced there under practically the same conditions which applied at the New Theatre, New York, where the play ran for an entire year, and in Pittsburg last season.

The story of "The Blue Bird" tends to show that Happiness is a free thing, ever pursued but rarely caught. Two little peasant children under the lure of this theory set forth to find "The Blue Bird" which, in the play is a symbol of happiness. Following them in their search are the souls of Light, Fire, Sugar, Water Bread and Milk, and, the faithful dog and the suspicious, treacherous cat. They pourney to the wonderful land They journey to the wonderful land long as they are remembered by soneone on earth. They visit the King of the Future and see the unborn children awaiting their arrival on earth. They wonder through the Palace of Night finding hundreds of "Blue Birds" that perished before Light and are guided through the Land of Happiness back to their home only to find that "Blue Bird" had all the time been dwelling in the peasant's cottage. The cast to be seen will be the same as that which appeared there last season.

THE GRAND—PITTSBURG.

Te enormous success of the talking motion pictures in the Grand has persuaded Mr. Harry Davis to retain this wonderful device a second week, in conjunction with a group of the highest type of vaudeville attractions, and twice each day, beginning St. Patrick's Day, Monday, March 17, the Edison Company will show a complete change of subjects. Perhaps the most interesting of these will be the quarrel scene from "Julius Caesar," a magnificently staged, splendidly acted and accurately reproduced excerpt from the Shakespearean drama. Another interesting subject will be a specialty by Truly Shattuck, the inimitable comedienne of musical comedy and vaudeville, and there will be an illustrated lecture descriptive of Mr. Edison's invention and its possibilities.

In a vaudeville way the honors of the next week's bill will be divided among many artistic players. Grace Van Studdiford, the aristocratic prima donna of lyric opera, formerly star of "The Red Feather," "Gold a Butterfly" and "Paradise of Mahomet," will sing a group of selected songs. John F. Conroy, the world's greatest life-saver who has been decorated for heroism by every institute in America with various medals in recognition of deeds of daring, will appear in a magnificent spectacle assisted by two beautiful and shapely young women of Boston. The Eight English Roses, an octet of boylenish and graceful, dancing girls from London, will providde Terpsichorean divertment. An amusing comedy called "The Cullud Parson and the Minstrelman," will present a study in black and white characterization by Hufford and Chain. McDevitt, Kelly and Luceyn an enlivening trio, will play a skit called "The Pianomovers and the Actress," a very droll conceit, with many laughable situations and a lot of real wit in its dialogue. Quite a departure in the way of Hebrew caricature will be furnished by Laypo and Benjamin, who are called the Yiddish acrobats. Supplementing these will be a large variety of other attractions, the whole comprising a program such as one may find only in Mr. Davis' well managed vaudeville playhouse.

THE DUQUESNE—PITTSBURG.

Next week, at the Duquesne Theatre, the Davis Stock Players will revive a well-known old drama, "Article 47", as translated from the original French text of Adolphe Belot under the title of "L' Article 47," by that famous American actress, Clara Morris, who made this play so famous by her creation of the French creole of New Orleans who so relentessly persecutes a French nobleman for forsaking her upon his return to France, for one of his own countrywomen. The story concerns Monsier George Duhamel, who is on trial for robbery and attempted murder. The alleged victim in this case is Cora, a Creole of New Orleans, who he loved. Duhamel is sentenced to five-years imprisonment, at the expiration of which time he emerges in Paris, where he maintains an establishment frequented by gamblers. Among them is DeRivers, father to Marceile, married to George, who to avoid detection in breaking the ban (imposed upon him by Article 47 of the Code, which forbids convicts to reside in Paris) has assumed the name of his father—Gorard. George visits Cora's house in search of his father-in-law. He is recognized by his former mistress, who still loves him and endeavors to wean his affections away from his bride. But the latter person stands by her husband when she learns the truth, and Cora, distracted by her failure to win back the only man she has really ever loved, becomes a raving maniac. This role will, of course, furnish Miss Lillian Kemble an exceptional opportunity in which to reveal her talents as a tragedienne at the Duquesne, next week. Charles Gunn will be the persecuted Dehamel.

into the macadam street as though in quicksand. And there they stayed. Three teams were hooked on. The cable from the motor on the hill was attached and all pulled together. The only tangible result was the breaking of the cable and mutterings of the drivers. The wagon never budged from its position.

It was finally found necessary to devise a system of pulleys and large ropes. Then by use of a new and stronger cable the wagon was slowly pulled up the hill.

The large beams are to be used in support of the school auditorium. There will be no braces under these beams to support the heavy weight that will fall upon them.

SUNDAY IMPORTANT DAY IN CHARLEROI CHURCHES

Palm Sunday Observance to be Made a Feature

CENTENARY SERVICES

Life and Work of David Livingstone to be Remembered in Sermons

Services appropriate to the observance of Palm Sunday will predominate in many of the Charleroi churches Sunday. The observance will be coincidental with the observance in other churches of the David Livingstone centenary. Palm Sunday, on which is celebrated Christ's entry into Jerusalem, is of ancient origin, as it occurs in the "Life of Enthymius," who died in 472. According to the present rite of the Catholic church, palm or olive branches are blessed b ythe priests before mass and distributed. After the distribution the Passion of Christ, as related by Matthew in his gospel, is solemnly chanted.

At St. Jerome's Catholic church the distribution of the palm will occur after high mass at 10:30 o'clock. Earlier masses will be held at 7:30 and 9 o'clock. Evening devotions wil lbe held at 7:30. Rev. W. D. Fries, pastor and Rev. B. N. Axmacher, assistant pastor, have been unable to prepare any program very much out of the ordinary because of the condition of the new church.

At St. Mary's Episcopal church Palm Sunday will be observed by a special sermon by Rev. L. W. Shey, rector, on "Christ's Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem."

In many of the Protestant churches Sunday morning will be given up to the observance of the David Livingstone centenary. All the pastors of these churches are to preach sermons relating to the life and work of the noted explorer and missionary to Africa. Short addresses will be made and there will be recitations and special music to suit the occasion at the First Christian church.

At the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, Rev. John R. Burson, the pastor will speak of "The Life and Achievements of David Livingstone." Rev. E. G. Stanley at the First Baptist church will speak of "Our Inheritance in the Life and Work of David Livingstone."

Rev. F. A. Richards at the Methodist Episcopal church is to speak in the morning on "The Pathfinder of the Dark Continent." Rev. J. T. Hacket is planning a special Livingstone sermon at the First Presbyterian church. Special music will be a feature at the Livingstone services.

Will Buy a Site at Monessen

Government Advertises it is in the Market for Public Building Location

Monessen is one of the first towns in the Monongahela valley to receive any official notice with the signature of the new Secretary of the treasury, W. G. McAdoo, attached. The signature of Secretary McAdoo was attached to an advertisement for a site for a public building in Monessen. The location must be central, the site no less than 20,000 square feet in area, and if the lot offered is rectangular, its minimum dimension must be not less than 125 feet. April 4 is the late day for the receiving of bids.

MILK HE BOUGHT WATERED

HAS OWN TESTER NOW

To the public:—There are two sides to all questions. As to the sample of milk taken from my wagon by Mr. Jenkins and the analysis showing water for which I was fined $25 and paid without defence because I had neither time or money to spare, and as it would be unwise when the analysis showed water in the sample, I would say that during winter I am compelled to buy a large amount of milk as do most dairyman, and during the summer months I aim to produce all my own milk as near as possible. For some time I have been buying 28 to 30 gallons per day, and when Mr. Jenkins informed me that my milk did not pass, I told him that I would take oath that I had never adulterated my milk in any way, and I say here that I never adulterated my milk in any way shape or form, and further I can prove by the young man that has been employed steadily by me over a year whose work is to care for the milk, who carries it from the stable to the spring house and he knows how much there is and loads the wagon in the morning and knows how much is loaded.

I have retailed milk to the citizens of Charleroi for six and one half years and my milk has always proven to give the best of satisfaction and has passed inspection six times and

SCHOOLS OBSERVE FIRST DISPLAY DAY

Work Done During Term Exhibited Friday Afternoon and Evening--Many Make Visits to Various Rooms

Anybody obsessed with the idea that the schools are accomplishing nothing and that the school children are profiting not at all would have had its quota of visitors. The work they visited the schools on the first exhibition day of the year Friday. Displays of the regular routine work by the pupils were hung about the rooms in tasteful array. Exclamations of wonder that so much had been accomplished were heard.

The schools were open for exhibition purposes both afternoon and in the evening. Every school building had its quota of visitors. The work displayed if viewed after a systematic method showed the progress of pupils from room to room. In the first grade were the products of the tiny hands in writing and drawing exercises. Also in the same grade was to be seen paper figures and colored flags that had been manufactured much after a kindergarten plan.

In the second grades were exhibitions of work showing more advanced pupils than in the first grade. Materially these displays were systematically arranged. Every room had taken on a festive air and that simply from the very business-like flag in the first grade of the Fifth street school building, which constituted the work of the pupils and teacher. Miss Elizabeth Elliott, drew much attention both during theafternoon and evening.

As every visitor entered a school their name was taken. Several hundred visits were recorded. Ushers who were chosen from among pupils of the lower grades showed every courtesy in pointing out the interesting places. There was no school held during the afternoon.

CHARLEROI LODGE OF EAGLES ARRANGES FOR ANNUAL MEMORIAL

Will Pay Fitting Tribute to Their Honored Dead Sunday--C. W. L. McDermott of Maryland Will Make Address

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Charleroi Lodge No. 390, Fraternal Order of Eagles will hold their annual memorial services in commemoration of the lives of the five members who died during last year. The services will be held at Palace Theatre. C. W. L. McDermott, of Cumberland, Md., a speaker f more than local reputation, will make the address, W. R. Gaut, past worthy president of the Charleroi lodge, will deliver the eulogy.

Music is to be afeature of the memorial services. As soloist Thomas Thomas, one of the best known and of the finest baritone singers in Pittsburg will be here. Under the direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel, the Charleroi Elks Glee club will sing two numbers, the first "Blessed are the Departed," by Blummer and "Nearer My God to Thee," by Johnston. The Palace Orchestra will render three numbers.

The five members who died during the year are: Robert Ellison, Theodore Ebberts, David Provance, Henry Bentz and John Watkinson.

FIRST DAY OF OPENING

Kirk and Clark Arrange for Fourteenth Annual Event

An event that is always eagerly anticipated in household circles in this community is the anniversary sale of the Economic store of Kirk and Clark, on McKean avenue, which opened today and will continue this evening, and on Monday and Monday night. This is the fourteenth annual anniversary sale, and it marks an important milestone in the progress of this enterprising firm.

From the very start the name of Kirk and Clark has been synonomous with fair dealing and good values. Starting on a modest scale the firm has prospered, and today owns one of the handsomest and best appointed department store buildings in the whole valley, which the firm erected some years ago. By liberal and systematic advertising the firm has become a household word all along the valley, and no one thinks of Charleroi in a trade way who does not instantly associate the name of Kirk and Clark with their wants.

For this anniversary sale special bargains are offered in all the departments of the big store. There are some specially attractive bargains in dry goods, in ladies' underwear, house dresses, and other apparel, curtains, household furnishings and dozens of other articles which must be seen to be appreciated. There are attractive displays of new and seasonable dress fabrics, and other new and pretty things, which are a delight to the feminine heart. The store is specially dressed up for the sale, and is attracting the usual large crowds.

BEAM IS HARD TO HANDLE

Big Steel Structure for School Difficult to Get Up Hill

WEIGHS SEVERAL TONS

Just as much of an engineering feat in its way way as that of boring the Hudson tunnel or floating the Geneva railroad bridge into its position over the Monongahela river, was that executed Friday and today of getting a large steel beam to be used in the construction of the new school building on Crest avenue and Sixth street to its location. It was necessary to haul the beam, weighing something like four tons up macadamized Sixth street. The work took all of Friday and the greater part of the working hours of today. At that it is only the first of seven to be taken up the hill.

The beam came into the freight yards on a dongola car with two others, slightly smaller. Comparatively easy was the work of getting the first and biggest loaded onto a truck made from a broad wheeled wagon. Also it was easy removing the heavy steel structure to Sixth street and then up to Washington avenue. Three teams were necessary to place the beam at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Sixth street. Aid was also required from the 15-horse power motor used in pulling heavy loads up Sixth street to the school building.

At Lincoln avenue the wagon wheels, though of broad tread sank

Monessen People Determined to Find Facts of Conditions

GRAFT MONEY PAID?

Mother Dudgeon and Others So Assert--District Attorney to Investigate

The story going the rounds of the newspapers that prominent men of Monessen are trying to block the investigations about to start into the alleged vice conditions of Wireton, because their sons were visitors at the home of Mother Dudgeon where the shooting of Policeman Michael Entinger occurred last Saturday night, is being most vigorously denied in Monessen. Not yet, it is stated, has any prominent man or any other man with an honest desire to see bad conditions rectified said anything about blocking the investigations. The bulk of the Monessen people are too angry.

"The investigation is going to go on," said one man this morning. "Let it catch who it will, nevertheless the investigation is to be made." That means that the charges of Mother Dudgeon's that she paid for protection will be thoroughly probed.

District Attorney W. T. Dom, of Westmoreland county has been stirred to action. He intimated Friday several arrests would likely be made soon. It has been announced by the vice committee appointed to probe the statement that Monessen police had been receiving graft money that the police are not guilty. However, it is not denied that certain constables were on the payroll of Mrs. Dudgeon for the past year.

Mrs. Dudgeon has said that she will tell everything she knows. This has caused fear in certain circles, and it is stated that various persons are considering taking vacations.

"Father didn't seem to care what I did—so I guess I don't care much either," said pretty 15-year-old Emma Hough, daughter of the man charged with the murder of Etinger.

The girl told District Attorney Dom that she had seen Mrs. Dudgeon pay a Pricedale constable $5 while the two were sitting on the front porch of their home not long ago. She also stated that Mrs. Dudgeon told her that she had paid $300 to a Monessen constable inside of one year and she was arrested twice that year anyhow.

Mrs. Dudgeon and the Hough girl are being held in the Greensburg jail as material witnesses. Blanche West, another inmate has been released from jail on bail to be taken to her home near Connellsville by her father.

THE OLD AND THE NEW.

It is now generally agreed that the high school is failing to solve the social problem because the method and scope of its teaching is cramped into the Chinese shoe of tradition. New and complex conditions have arisen whereby the old methods have become obsolete, and a failure to meet the new requirements is what has brought the public to the present realization that new school methods must give way to the old. William D. Lewis, principal of one of the high schools of Philadelphia, gives an outline comparison between the old and the new that is interesting He says:

The old schools system served:

A rural population.

A few boys destined for the professions.

Boys made resourceful and industrious by farmwork.

Socially and mentally homogeneous sons of American parents.

A few thousand boys zealous for learning.

A simple social order, with few occupations and few problems.

The new school serves:

An urban population.

every occupation.

All sorts of boys destined for

City boys, who have never been responsible for a single task.

Sons of every nation under heaven as heterogeneous as an election day crowd.

A great many thousand boys mostly unambitious and purposeless.

A highly complex social order, with innumerable activities and inter dependent problems.

The problem is now how to handle the motor minded boy who refuses to sit down and study a book. Boys and girls must have some experience in the handling and use of material things, a knowledge of the scheme of production, and a sense of responsibility and accuracy. The urban child does not get this in its home life, and it is up to the schools to supply the deficiency.

A MANLY STATEMENT.

The frank and manly statement published elsewhere in this issue of Floyd Bonnell, the Charleroi dairyman who was fined recently because tests of a milk sample taken from him by a pure food agent of the state showed that it contained water added, should be satisfactory and convincing to the public and to Mr. Bennell's patrons. While Mr. Bonnell was an offender, against the letter of the law; it was in the same manner that retailers who buy in good faith from wholesalers are caught in the dragnet of the pure food agents. Like such retailers, Mr. Bonnell states that he bought milk in good faith from outsiders to augment his own supply, which proved to be adultrated. In this manner he became an involuntary offender, as the law excuses no one, even though imposed upon by others.

As Mr. Bonnell has taken precautions to prevent a repetition of the offense, the occurrence should in no wise discredit him in the eyes of the public. He manfully accepted the situation, paid his fine, and has taken every precaution to protect himself from being imposed upon again by outside dealers. The honest dealer who is anxious to correct errors or omissions will always merit the public esteem. It is the deliberate and persistent violations that should be condemned.

THE HOME SPIRIT.

In the real estate transfers, which are published in this paper from time to time as they appear on the books of the recorder at Washington, it is seen that a large number of foreign born citizens are acquiring real estate in the borough of Charleroi. This property is purchased for the most part for the purpose of making homes, although business sites constitute a considerable proportion of the transfers.

This shows that our foreign born citizens are rapidly acquiring the home spirit, which is the basic element of good citizenship. From the very start, there has been a disposition on the part of the foreign born residents in Charleroi to acquire homes, until today there is an unusually large number of them who are property owners. As the foreign born element constitutes the preponderating majority of our citizens, the home spirit that is displayed by them shows how rapcly they are falling into the ways of the country of their adoption.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The Gun License Law will be of untold benefit to the farmers, and do more good than anything else of this kind that has ever been proposed in Pennsylvania," said State Zoologist H. A. Surface who is also a practical farmer and orchardist.

"This bill as amended provides that a person can hunt on his own premisss without a license and also on adjoining premises with the written consent of the owner. He can post his land and keep away such persons as he does not wish to trespass there or by obtaining written consent gunners can hunt upon his premises during the open season. The gunner is required to wear upon his arm a tag containing a number which corresponds with his license number kept at the office of the State Game Commission. He must also carry his license giving his name and address, and show this to the land owner upon posted ground and refusing to show the license giving the name and meditely without a warrant. Boys under 16 years of age can be licensed only by the written consent of their parents. The many valuable protective features of this bill justify the immediate support of every farmer in securing its passage. It provides for the protection of life and property in the country in a manner that has never before been provided. The responsible gunner will be given a chance, and for him game will become more abundant, but the hoodlum gunner is ruled out, and the list of horrible accidents through the unrestrained carelessness of boys will be greatly reduced.

"This is plainly a bill for respectable hunters and land owners, and may not yet become a law, unless those persons in whose interests it is drawn should awaken to a realization of its importance, and let their Senators and Representatives know that they desire its passage."

"Funny thing," said a Charleroi citizen this morning, "but one never realizes how use doth breed a habit, as one William Shakespeare, was wont to remark. Ive gotten used to seeing things advetrised, that it never occurs to me to ask if a dealer has an article that I don't have flashed before my eyes every time I open the paper.

"For instance, I took a notion I'd like to have some cracked wheat for a cereal, instead of the oat flake diet, after reading an article in a magazine dilating upon the virtues of wheat as a food. As I never saw any advertised here I took it for granted that no one handled it. I have a young friend who attends school in Pittsburg, going down Sundays and coming back Friday evening to spend Sunday at home. Last Sunday I sent to him, and handing a dollar said:

"'I would like to have you go to Stevenson's in Pittsburg and get me a dollar's worth of cracked wheat, if you will.'

"'Sure,' he replied obligingly.

"Last evening he came to the door bringing six fifteen-cent packages of cracked wheat, put up by the Quaker Oats people.

"'Why, I believe I could have gotten that here,' I replied, and to satisfy my curiosity asked my grocer, who said that he always carried it in stock.

"'Well,' I replied, you'd probably sell a lot more of it if you let the people know that you carried it. As for myself, I'm stocked up for the rest of the year!'"

made a good test each time. I got report of same, as Mr. Jenkins said last week that a previous test of my milk made by him showed eight or nine per cent butter fat and the law only calls for three and one fourth. I have always given my customers a square deal and they trust in me and are satisfied that I have always treated them honestly. I have the largest retail trade in Charleroi. My customers number about three hundred. If I had not given them a fair deal how long would they stay with me? And today I am selling more milk than I did the first of the month.

If I have been buying watered milk, if my customers have innocently been imposed upon, I am only glad to know that it will continue no longer, and I am sure I shall never be caught napping or wrong again as I shall test any and all milk I buy and shall furnish in the future, as in the past, milk of strictly high quality.

Yours Respectfully,

AMONG THE THEATRES

THE STAR—CHARLEROI.

A rattling good two reel Kay Bee civil war drama was one of the distinguishing features of the excellent repertoire at the Star Theatre this week. This was entitled "The Little Turn Coat," and it was a story of the irrepressible conflict between love and duty, where the partisan southern girl lets her love for a dashing federal officer override her loyalty, while he in turn sacrifices a point of duty to save the life of her brother, a confederate officer. There is some desperate infantry and cavalry fighting that is most realistic, and the fact that the company is composed of the old "101 Ranch Wild West" outfit, is a guarantee of its excellence. "The Mutual Weekly," which Manager Cowan now runs every Monday, is a feature that is greatly appreciated by his patrons. This shows all the leading and worldwide events in pictorial review. The weekly this week showed scenes of the Balkan war with Turkey, in Greece, in Bulgaria and in Servia. In addition there were a number of other good dramas. Among these were "Napoleon's Luck Stone," "His Old Fashioned Mother," "When Destiny Guides." A big feature is booked for Friday, March 21. This is "As in a Looking Glass," in three reels, which features Miss Marien Leonard, who is said to receive the highest salary of any motion picture actress, $1,000 a week.

THE ALVIN—PITTSBURG.

"The Blue Bird" will be the attraction at the Alvin Theatre next week, when this spectacular attraction will be produced there under practically the same conditions which applied at the New Theatre, New York, where the play ran for an entire year, and in Pittsburg last season.

The story of "The Blue Bird" tends to show that Happiness is a free thing, ever pursued but rarely caught. Two little peasant children under the lure of this theory set forth to find "The Blue Bird" which, in the play is a symbol of happiness. Following them in their search are the souls of Light, Fire, Sugar, Water Bread and Milk, and, the faithful dog and the suspicious, treacherous cat. They pourney to the wonderful land They journey to the wonderful land long as they are remembered by soneone on earth. They visit the King of the Future and see the unborn children awaiting their arrival on earth. They wonder through the Palace of Night finding hundreds of "Blue Birds" that perished before Light and are guided through the Land of Happiness back to their home only to find that "Blue Bird" had all the time been dwelling in the peasant's cottage. The cast to be seen will be the same as that which appeared there last season.

THE GRAND—PITTSBURG.

Te enormous success of the talking motion pictures in the Grand has persuaded Mr. Harry Davis to retain this wonderful device a second week, in conjunction with a group of the highest type of vaudeville attractions, and twice each day, beginning St. Patrick's Day, Monday, March 17, the Edison Company will show a complete change of subjects. Perhaps the most interesting of these will be the quarrel scene from "Julius Caesar," a magnificiently staged, splendidly acted and accurately reproduced excerpt from the Shakespeream drama. Another interesting subject will be a specialty by Truly Shattusk, the inimitable comedienne of musical comedy and vaudeville, and there will be an illustrated lecture descriptive of Mr. Edison's invention and its possibilities.

In a vaudeville way the honors of the next week's bill will be divided among many artistic players. Grace Van Studdiford, the aristocratic prima donna of lyric opera, formerly star of "The Red Feather," "Golden Butterfly" and "Paradise of Mahomet," will sing a group of selected songs. John F. Conroy, the world's greatest life-saver who has been decorated for heroism by every institute in America with various medals in recognition of deeds of daring, will appear in a magnificent spectacle assisted by two beautiful and shapely young women of Boston. The Eight English Roses, an octet of boydenish and graceful, dancing girls from London, will providde Terpsichorean di-

"The Cullud Parson and the Minstrelman," will present a study in black and white characterization by Hufford and Chain. McDevitt, Kelly and Luccyn an enlivening trio, will play a skit called "The Piapomovers and the Actress," a very droll conceit, with many laughable situations and a lot of real wit in its dialogue. Quite a departure in the way of Hebrew caricature will be furnished by Leypo and Banjamin, who are called the Yiddish acrobats. Supplementing these will be a large variety of other attractions, the whole comprising a program such as one may find only in Mr. Davis' well managed vaudeville playhouse.

THE DUQUESNE—PITTSBURG.

Next week, at the Duquesne Theatre, the Davis Stock Players will revive a well-known old drama, "Article 47", as translated from the original French text of Adolphe Belot under the title of "L" Article 47," by that famous American actress, Clara Morris, who made this play so famous by her creation of the French creole of New Orleans who so relentlessly persecutes a French nobleman for forsaking her upon his return to France, for one of his own countrywomen. The story concerns Monsier George Duhamel, who is on trial for robbery and attempted murder. The alleged victim in this case is Cora, a Cre-

Duhamel is sentenced to five-years imprisonment, at the expiration of which time he emerges in Paris, where he maintains an establishment frequented by gamblers. Among them is DeRivers, father to Marceile, married to George, who to avoid detection in breaking the ban (imposed upon him by Article 47 of the Code, which forbids convicts to reside in Paris) has assumed the name of his father—Gorard. George visits Cora's house in search of his father-in-law. He is recognized by his former mistress, who still loves him and endeavors to wean his affections away from his bride. But the latter person stands by her husband when she learns the truth, and Cora, distracted by her failure to win back the only man she has really ever loved, becomes a raving maniac. This role will, of course, furnish Miss Lillian Kemble an exceptional opportunity in which to reveal her talents as a tragedienne at the Duquesne, next week. Charles Gunn will be the persecuted Dehamel.

into the macadam street as though in quicksand. And there they stayed. Three teams were hooked on. The cable from the motor on the hill was attached and all pulled together. The only tangible result was the breaking of the cable and mutterings of the drivers. The wagon never budged from its position.

It was finally found necessary to devise a system of pulleys and large ropes. Then by use of a new and stronger cable the wagon was slowly pulled up the hill.

The large beams are to be used in support of the school auditorium. There will be no braces under these beams to support the heavy weight that will fall upon them.
